

Four High School Seniors Awarded College Study Grants

March 27, 1958

Three Loudoun High School students and one student at Douglass High School, Leesburg, were named this week to receive the Middleburg Community Center's fifth annual scholarship awards.

The awards here totalled $6,200.

A $2,000 award went to Caroline Sue Brown 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Brown of Lincoln. Caroline hopes to major in sociology at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind. She is the winner of the DAR citizenship award and is active in the student council, SCA, the band, Beta Club and National Honor Society.

A $2,000 award went to Constance Helen Colvin 17, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Colvin of Broad Run Farms. Connie would like to study chemistry at William and Mary. She has worked with the Future Nurses Club, fashion board, Beta Club, the school newspaper, and as a cheer leader.

E. Milton McDonald 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McDonald of Purcellville, is the winner of a $1200 grant. He has taken part in Beta Club, National Honor Society, and school annual activities. Milton plans to major in English at Richmond (Va.) College.

Winning senior at Douglass High is Vivian Yvonne Jackson 18, the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson of Middleburg. Yvonne will major in elementary education at Virginia State College. She is a member of the French club and the student congress.

BEFORE A LOUDOUN HIGH bulletin board on which are posted details of college scholarship opportunities, above left, are three seniors who were notified this week that they'd won Middleburg Community Center

scholarship grants. They are Caroline Brown, Milton McDonald and Connie Colvin. Awarded a $1200 scholarship is Douglass High School senior Yvonne Jackson, right. She will study to be a teacher.

The scholarships are made possible by a grant set up by Mrs. Howell E. Jackson and the Old Dominion Foundation. They are a part of the Center's educational project.

The four-year grants range from $250 to $500 per year per student and are renewable each year if a satisfactory record is maintained by the recipients.

Fauquier County students awarded grants totaling $8,800 were Raymond Armstrong, Sandra Smith, James Craun, John Wine, and Reginald Garner.

The preliminary testing of scholarship applicants is under the supervision of Dr. Frederick Indorf, director of the educational project. Further rating is done by teachers and principals on the basis of academic achievement and college potential.

This year's final selection committee was composed of Dr. John R. Hutcheson of VPI, C. M. Bradley, superintendent of schools in Fauquier, C. M. Bussinger, Loudoun superintendent, O. L. Emerick, former Loudoun superintendent, and Marion M. Caskie of Calverton, retired executive vice president of the Reynolds Metal Company.

The winner in the popularity contest at Douglass high school is Joyce Martin. The runner-up is Louise Page. Other participants were Betty Ann Jackson, Caroline Thomas, Carolyn Berry, Allen Stewart, Cora Whiting, Charles Basil and Yvonne Jackson.