THE TRAINING OF CHILDREN

Forming habits is about the easiest thing children do.

If you once get a habit well formed in youth, it is apt to stay with you in your later years.

If you have anything to do with the training of children, see that they form the habit of thrift when they are young. It will be of untold value to them as long as they live.

And let their savings be regular and systematic. Don't let them begin and then leave off. Teach them to stick at it month after month and year after year.

And don't forget that the example of grown-ups is going to have a big effect on the youngsters. Make their saving—and yours—a regular habit.
